// PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

- Triggering coverage with your pleading
- What to do (and not do) if the defendant's carrier refuses to defend
- Keeping an eye on the indemnity dollars -- how to maximize coverage
- Policy limits demands and protecting the subsequent bad faith case
- Have insurance coverage issues in your case? Mannion and Coleman field questions in a spirited round of "Try to Stump the Coverage Attorneys"

SPEAKERS:

Terrence J. Coleman specializes in the representation of policyholders in insurance bad faith and insurance coverage matters. Mr. Coleman was the 2014 SFTLA Board President and in 2003, served as Chair of the Insurance Section of the Assoc. of Trial Lawyers of America. Mr. Coleman is a Fellow of the American College of Coverage and Extracontractual Counsel and has been a NorCal "Super Lawyer" from 2006 through 2014

E. Gerard Mannion is a partner with Mannion & Lowe. He litigates a variety of cases including insurance coverage disputes, bad faith, personal injury, wrongful death, construction law, environmental law, legal malpractice, real estate disputes, fraud, wrongful termination & premises liability. He received his JD from Hastings College of Law. He is a member of SFTLA (past President); CAOC (Board of Governors); Insurance Commissioner's Task Force on environmental insurance coverage; past President The Lawyer's Club of SF & American Inn of Court.

Demián I. Oksenendler is an attorney at Mannion & Lowe in San Francisco. He represents policyholders in litigation involving various lines of insurance, including property/casualty, all types of liability, as well as homeowners, auto, disability, and life. In addition to SFTLA, he is an active member AAJ, CAOC, the Western Trial Lawyers Association, and the American Inns of Court. He also sits on the California State Bar's Committee on Group Insurance Programs. 2014 marked his fourth consecutive year on the Super Lawyers Rising Stars list. When he isn't at work or telling war stories, he likes to bike across the Golden Gate Bridge and through the hills of Marin, coach students in the Hastings Moot Court program, and sing with the UC Mens Octet Alumni Club.

Ryan H. Opgenorth practices insurance coverage and bad faith litigation. He represents both corporate and individual policyholders in actions against their insurance companies to make sure they are compensated for any wrongfully withheld benefits. Before joining Pillsbury & Coleman, LLP, he represented insurers as both coverage and bad faith counsel on a variety of policies including CGL, product recall, and financial broker-dealer policies. He has obtained numerous favorable judgments in both state and federal courts.
